Background:

There are two (2) categories of Rhodesian Ridgeback Regional Specialty Clubs:

1) Category 1 Clubs: Regional Clubs who have been accepted as a RRCUS Regional Specialty Club and have applied to the AKC and have been approved to hold point-awarding shows, and

2) Category 2 Clubs: Regional Clubs who have been accepted as a RRCUS Regional Specialty Club but have not been approved to hold AKC point-awarding shows.

Only Category 1 Regional Clubs are allowed to hold point-awarding Regional Specialties. All Applications for AKC shows MUST be sent to the Corresponding Secretary prior to sending to the AKC for approval.

Category 2 Clubs can hold RRCUS Supported Shows as they work on getting AKC licensed to be able to hold Regional Shows under their name and license. Category 2 Clubs can not hold Regional Specialties until they are licensed by the AKC.

Your show chair for the Regional must be a RRCUS member.

The AKC requires written approval from RRCUS before being recognized as a Regional Club. The AKC requires written approval from RRCUS to allow all Regional Clubs applying for Regional Specialties.

Regional Specialties will only be approved if sponsored by a RRCUS recognized Regional Club and those Clubs that can hold point-awarding shows and are licensed by the AKC to hold points awarding shows.

The Regional Specialty is given by the Regional Club and can be one of the following possible Specialties. It is not the policy of RRCUS to allow Regional Clubs to use the RRCUS license and name to hold a Regional Specialty.

All Regional Clubs make an application to the AKC to hold a show using their name and club license number. Following that, the Regional Club will send in for a Supported Show. RRCUS does support the Regional entry.

Requirements of the RRCUS Regional Specialty Clubs:

These apply to all category 1 and category 2 clubs recognized by RRCUS as a Regional Specialty Club:

(Mentors will be permitted to participate on days they are exhibiting up to the class in which they have an entry. They will be allowed to participate thereafter.)"
This text is also available from the 2nd Vice President and shall not be altered without RRCUS approval. If the approved text does not appear in the premium, it may affect RRCUS approval for the Regional Specialty Club’s show for following year.
